

Should You Be A Board Member?

Well, it depends. If you're the type of person who understands the value of "psychic income" as opposed to the other kinds of income; if you're the type of person who enjoys something for the pure pleasure of knowing your efforts really do count and are making a difference; if you're a natural-born problem solver and can devote several hours of your time to meeting at least four times a year (plus phone calls and interim meetings), then you should be on the Board of Directors.

Your fellow owners need people who will dedicate the time necessary to help administer the affairs of the Association. They need people with fresh approaches who can be counted on to lobby on behalf of the best interests of all the owners. They need people without hidden, self-serving agendas who will take the steps necessary to serve the greater good.

If you fit these qualifications, then you're the one we're looking for. Return the nomination form below to the Association Office and tell your fellow owners how you can improve their vacation ownership in the next two years. Serving on the Board can be an extremely rewarding experience.
